NEW QUESTION: 1

A local manufacturer that serves about 1000 retail stores is experiencing a slow yet steady decrease of its customer base over the last couple of years. Attributing the situation to increased competition, management has hired a team of sales representatives to attract new clients and promote the manufacturer's products. However, after four months there is still no progress. Management has engaged a business analyst (BA) to investigate this issue. What should the BA do first?

- A. Review historic sales and related data to understand what is happening to the customer base
- B. Identify appropriate training providers and send out a request for proposal
- C. Perform market research to identify on which competitive advantages the sales team should focus
- D. Create a training program to close potential skill gaps for the sales team

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION: 3

Business process reengineering is most likely to:

- A. Apply a continuous improvement model.
- B. Be applied within individual departments.
- C. Improve existing procedures.
- D. Implement modern information systems technology to eliminate some controls.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Reengineering and TQM techniques eliminate many traditional controls. They exploit modern technology to improve productivity and decrease the number of clerical workers. Thus, controls should be automated and self-correcting and require minimal human intervention. Moreover, auditors must be prepared to encounter and use) new technologies. The emphasis therefore shifts to monitoring so management can determine when an operation may be out of control and corrective action is needed.
