NEW QUESTION: 1

You have a failover cluster named Cluster1.

A virtual machine named VM1 is a highly available virtual machine that runs on Cluster1. A custom application named App1 runs on VM1.

You need to configure monitoring of VM1. If App1 adds an error entry to the Application event log, VM1 should be automatically rebooted and moved to another cluster node.

Which tool should you use?

- A. Hyper-V Manager
- B. Resource Monitor
- C. Failover Cluster Manager
- D. Server Manager

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION: 2

In a declining industry with a favorable structure, a firm may have the ability to recover additional investment or to earn above-average returns in the remaining pockets of demand. Such a firm is most likely to follow a:

- A. Harvest strategy or quick divestment strategy.
- B. Leadership strategy or niche strategy.
- C. Quick divestment strategy.
- D. Leadership strategy or harvest strategy.

Answer: B

Explanation:

A leadership strategy is pursued by a firm that believes it can achieve market share gains to become the dominant firm. An assumption is that additional investment can be recovered. A second assumption is that success will put the firm in a better position to hold its ground or subsequently to follow a harvest strategy. A niche strategy seeks a market segment (pocket of demand) with stable or slowly decreasing demand with the potential for above-average returns. Some of the moves undertaken when following a leadership strategy may be appropriate. The firm may eventually change to a harvest or divest strategy.

NEW QUESTION: 3

A solutions architect is designing a high performance computing (HPC) workload on Amazon EC2.

The EC2 instances need to communicate to each other frequently and require network performance with low latency and high throughput.

Which EC2 configuration meets these requirements?

- A. Launch the EC2 instances in a cluster placement group in one Availability Zone
- B. Launch the EC2 instances in an Auto Scaling group in two Regions and peer the VPCs
- C. Launch the EC2 instances in a spread placement group in one Availability Zone
- D. Launch the EC2 instances in an Auto Scaling group spanning multiple Availability Zones

Answer: A

Explanation:

When you launch a new EC2 instance, the EC2 service attempts to place the instance in such a way that all of your instances are spread out across underlying hardware to minimize correlated failures. You can use placement groups to influence the placement of a group of interdependent instances to meet the needs of your workload.

Depending on the type of workload, you can create a placement group using one of the following placement strategies:

Cluster * packs instances close together inside an Availability Zone. This strategy enables workloads to achieve the low-latency network performance necessary for tightly-coupled node-to- node communication that is typical of HPC applications.

Partition * spreads your instances across logical partitions such that groups of instances in one partition do not share the underlying hardware with groups of instances in different partitions. This strategy is typically used by large distributed and replicated workloads, such as Hadoop, Cassandra, and Kafka.

Spread * strictly places a small group of instances across distinct underlying hardware to reduce correlated failures.

For this scenario, a cluster placement group should be used as this is the best option for providing low-latency network performance for a HPC application.

CORRECT: "Launch the EC2 instances in a cluster placement group in one Availability Zone" is the correct answer.

INCORRECT: "Launch the EC2 instances in a spread placement group in one Availability Zone" is incorrect as the spread placement group is used to spread instances across distinct underlying hardware.

INCORRECT: "Launch the EC2 instances in an Auto Scaling group in two Regions. Place a Network Load Balancer in front of the instances" is incorrect as this does not achieve the stated requirement to provide low-latency, high throughput network performance between instances. Also, you cannot use an ELB across Regions.

INCORRECT: "Launch the EC2 instances in an Auto Scaling group spanning multiple Availability Zones" is incorrect as this does not reduce network latency or improve performance.
