NEW QUESTION: 1

Which of the following restricts a user from entering invalid data in the table columns?

- A. Validation rule
- B. Application part
- C. Index
- D. Input mask

Answer: A

Explanation:

A validation rule is a set of rules associated with a column so that a user is restricted from entering invalid data. A user can be restricted from entering data through the following options: Datatypes: When a field is assigned to a datatype, data of another type cannot be inserted in the field.

Field size: The field size restricts the amount of data to be inserted in a table.

Table Properties: Certain table properties such as Required forces a user to enter data or the Format property forces a user to enter data in a defined format.

A validation rule can be applied by using the Validation Rule property. A user can be intimated about the invalid data through the Validation Text property.

Answer A is incorrect. An input mask is used to control values of a field entered by a database user. The input mask includes literal characters, for example, space, dot, parenthesis, and placeholder. Microsoft Office Access contains a number of pre-defined input masks that match with most of the conditions. A user can create customized masks according to his needs. The Input Mask Wizard is used to create an input mask for text and date fields. If the user wants to create an input mask for numeric fields, he should enter the formatting symbol himself.

Answer C is incorrect. In Microsoft Office Access 2010, an index is a list of field values included in a table. It helps Access in finding and sorting records quickly. An index stores the record's location based on the columns that are part of the index. The indexed fields have unique values which make it more efficient and faster for Access to read and find a specific field value.

Answer B is incorrect. An application part is a template available in Microsoft Office Access 2010. It can be added to an existing database. It is used to extend the functionality of an Access database. It can include only a single table or a number of database objects, such as tables, forms, reports, and even relationships. A user can open up the Application Parts gallery in order to view the built-in parts.

NEW QUESTION: 2

An expense report requires approvals from the requestor's manager, division VP, and possibly an accountant based on the amount of the expense report.

Which configuration satisfies this requirement?

- A. Cascading approval using when rules to identify the assigned user
- B. Cascading approval using the reporting manager
- C. Cascading approval using an authority matrix
- D. Cascading approval using the workgroup manager

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION: 3

Note: This question is part of a series of questions that present the same scenario. Each question in the series contains a unique solution. Determine whether the solution meets the stated goals.

Your network contains an Active Directory domain named contoso.com. The domain contains a DNS server named Server1. All client computers run Windows 10.

On Server1, you have the following zone configuration.

You need to ensure that all of the client computers in the domain perform DNSSEC validation for the fabrikam.com namespace.

Solution: From Windows PowerShell on Server1, you run the Add-DnsServertrustAnchor cmdlet.

Does this meet the goal?

- A. Yes
- B. No

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation

The Add-DnsServerTrustAnchor command adds a trust anchor to a DNS server. A trust anchor (or trust

"point") is a public cryptographic key for a signed zone. Trust anchors must be configured on every non-authoritative DNS server that will attempt to validate DNS data. Trust Anchors have no direct relation to DSSEC validation.
