If your property Insurance has Actual Cash Valuation (ACV) clause, your damaged property will be compensated based on:
A. Replacement with a new item for the old one regardless of condition of lost item
B. Value of item one month before the loss
C. Value of item on the date of loss
D. Value of item on the date of loss plus 10 percent
Answer: C
Explanation:
Explanation/Reference:
Explanation:
In the property and casualty insurance industry, Actual Cash Value (ACV) is a method of valuing insured property, or the value computed by that method. ACV is computed by subtracting depreciation from replacement cost on the date of the loss. The depreciation is usually calculated by establishing a useful life of the item determining what percentage of that life remains. This percentage multiplied by the replacement cost equals the ACV.
Incorrect Answers:
B: Using Actual Cash Valuation you would not receive a new item as a replacement for the old damaged item.

C: You would receive the calculated value of item on the exact date of the loss, not of the value one month before the loss.
D: You would receive the calculated value of item on the date of loss only. You would not receive an additional 10%.
