NEW QUESTION: 4

Which three statements about EIGRP and BFD are true? (Choose three.)

- A. BFD is tied to a specific routing protocol and can be used for generic fault detection for the OSPF, EIGRP, and BGP routing protocols.
- B. Reduced EIGRP timers have an absolute minimum detection timer of 1-2 seconds; BFD can provide sub-second failure detection.
- C. BFD is independent of the routing protocol, so it can be used as a generic failure detection mechanism for EIGRP.
- D. BFD resides on the control plane, so it is less CPU-intensive than if it resided on the data plane.
- E. Some parts of BFD can be distributed to the data plane, so it can be less CPU-intensive than reduced timers, which exist wholly at the control plane.
- F. BFD is dependent on the EIGRP routing protocol, so it can be used as a specific failure detection mechanism.

Answer: B,C,E

Explanation:

There are several advantages to implementing BFD over reduced timer mechanisms for routing protocols:

*Although reducing the EIGRP, IS-IS, and OSPF timers can result in a minimum detection timer of one to two seconds,

BFD can provide failure detection in less than one second.

*Because BFD is not tied to any particular routing protocol, it can be used as a generic and consistent failure detection mechanism for EIGRP, IS-IS, and OSPF.

*Because some parts of BFD can be distributed to the data plane, it can be less CPU-intensive than the reduced EIGRP, IS-IS, and OSPF timers, which exist wholly at the control plane.
